Minnesota Cooperative Career Resources

Explore work in organizations owned by the people who use their services, produce their goods, or work there. Start with a sector that interests you, scan its openings, and use the contact to ask about career paths or local opportunities. These links are starting points, not a complete list of co-op employers.

Agriculture and farm supply

Farmer-owned co-ops help members buy inputs, market crops and dairy products, and process food. Roles include agronomy, operations, food science, logistics, finance, and communications.

Jobs careers.landolakesinc.com, jobs.chsinc.com/

Contact info@mfu.org

Food and grocery

Consumer-owned food co-ops sell groceries and often support local producers. Careers span customer service, buying, produce, wellness, marketing, and store management.

Jobs jobs.columinate.coop/

Contact grocery.coop/contact/

Electric utilities and energy

Member-owned electric co-ops provide power and related services, often in rural communities. Roles include linework, engineering, IT, member service, sustainability, and policy.

Jobs association.mrea.org/jobs

Contact info@mrea.org

Credit unions and financial services

Credit unions are financial cooperatives owned by members and include work in lending, financial counseling, branch service, technology, compliance, and community outreach.

Jobs mncun.mcjobboard.net/jobs

Contact web.mncun.org/contact

Housing and resident ownership

Housing co-ops and resident-owned communities give residents a voice in their homes. Careers include property operations, resident organizing, finance, development, and governance support.

Jobs nasco.coop/jobs

Contact info@conorth.coop

Worker-owned businesses

In worker co-ops, employees share ownership and participate in business decisions. They operate in fields from design and construction to care, food, and professional services.

Jobs usworker.coop/jobs

Contact info@cominnesota.coop

Links checked September 2026. Openings and contact routes may change.